

Artist: Tilly Lees Exhibition: Another Perspective with paper

Tilly's News No.3, 2015
screenprint, on paper, headline frame
60 x 42cm

Information about Tilly Lees

Tilly Lees emerging art practice investigates the emotional and social freedom and constraints of the individual within our society. Exploring cultural, physical and political concerns and injustices. She is interested in our vulnerabilities, complexities and transgressions and how they manifest within the human form. Investigating the fundamental certainties of our existence, the body is both the messenger and the vessel for our disturbances.

Study

Words can transmit a powerful social, environmental and political message. Research Barbara Kruger and the 'Truisms' of Jenny Holzer to see how both make use of written language to convey their concerns.

<http://www.theartstory.org/artist-kruger-barbara.htm>

<http://projects.jennyholzer.com/>

Making

- Generate your own 'truism' headline for 'Lost News'. Choose a limited number of words to convey a message or statement with a challenging double meaning. Using drawing on paper or computer create your headline, using varieties of font styles. Consider the design and arrangement of the text on the page..